The Search Is Over . . . Off Again . . .

Wisdom is not an easy thing to come by. Knowledge is not easily found. It takes looking, pushing, searching. You keep on and on going deeper and deeper without knowing what is ahead.

The things that were once most basic . . . Times change. We search for new absolutes, something to lend security as we walk on unexplored thoughts only half composed but already bursting into song. And suddenly it appears. The search is over; the treasure found. And a treasure it is, but its greatest wealth is in those questions for whose answers it only gives clues. Off again . . . Truth smells sweet. Beautiful, the thought of untold wisdom. But if not truth what then? Folly is sweet for a time with fleeting perfume; masked by a shrewd and careful devil.

And so it goes: new truths dislodging the old falsehoods! Knowledge is this kind of thing. Until proven otherwise we accept the thoughts of others with only the weakest of supports.

We must question; not accept blindly, but see the truth or lie for what it is, not the way it first appears. The search continues. With each new idea realized, whole new worlds are opened to those who are adventuresome; who will commit their very being to discovery. Entire new fields full of daisies, eager to be picked, are found, but entrance to this vast expanse is often only through some obscure fact, which few will find and fewer utilize to its fullest and be sent off into another even vaster maze of thought. Those who do utilize each bit of knowledge gained will do the most gaining. Their search will be long but the fruits sweet.

To Mr. Bekins,
Don't make love
under the garden gate, cause love is blind but, the neighbors ain't!
I to really been nice being in your math class

in your class next year.

Search . . .

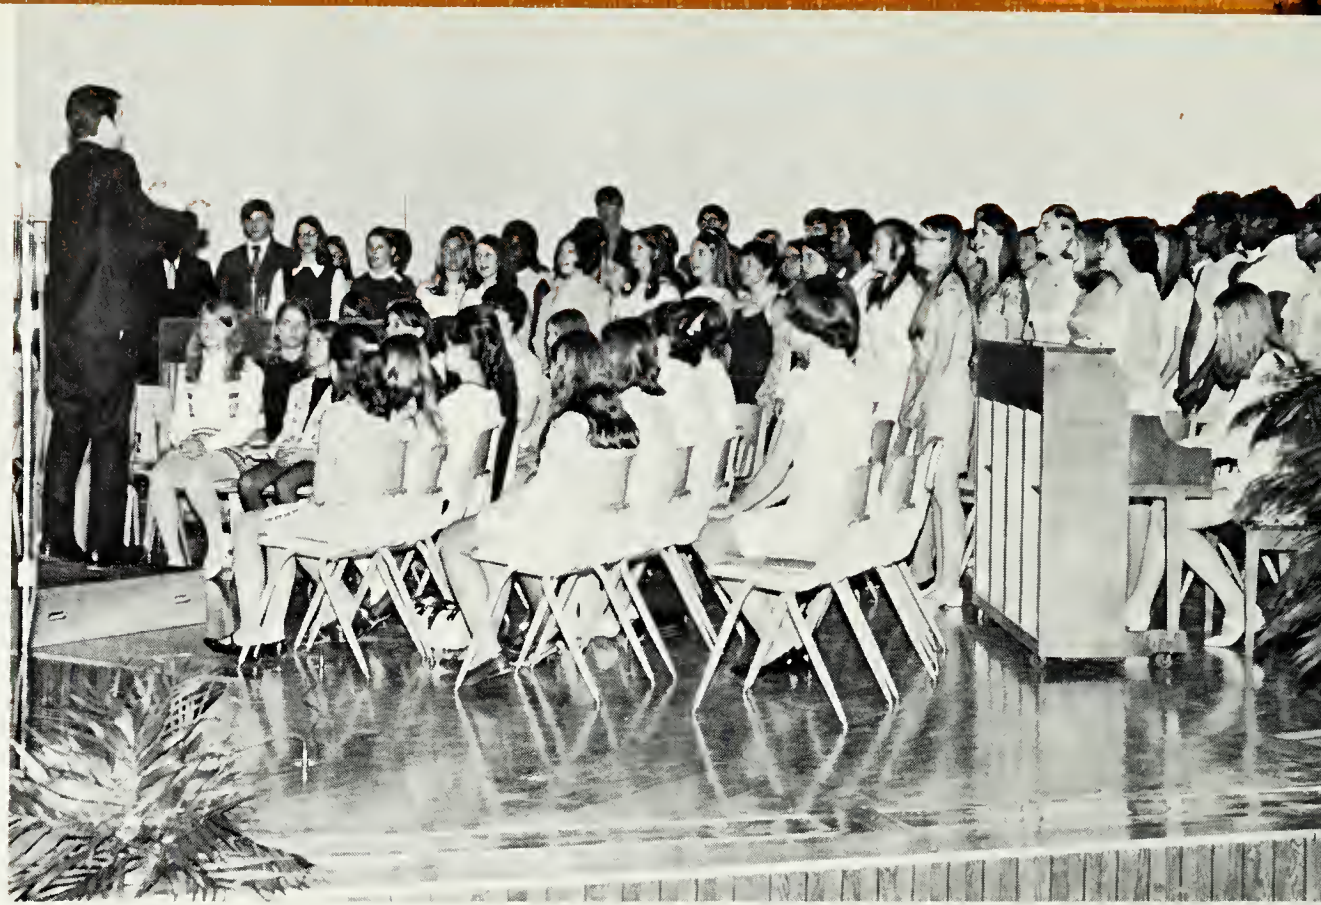

Searching, searching for what? In this world today in spite of man's ties of unity and brotherhood, the individual pursues a search for self and for that unattainable goal. This goal entices man into following a quest of no end. Knowledge is attained in hopes of finding the answers to life and its many assets. Wondering about what is unknown inspires the individual into this groping for truth. A truth which will eventually enable the self to be found.

As a representative of the faculty, Mr. Worley receives a key from Mr. Robert Phipps.

Finally,
the Yearbooks are here!

"Happiness is" . . . reading a "Harvester"

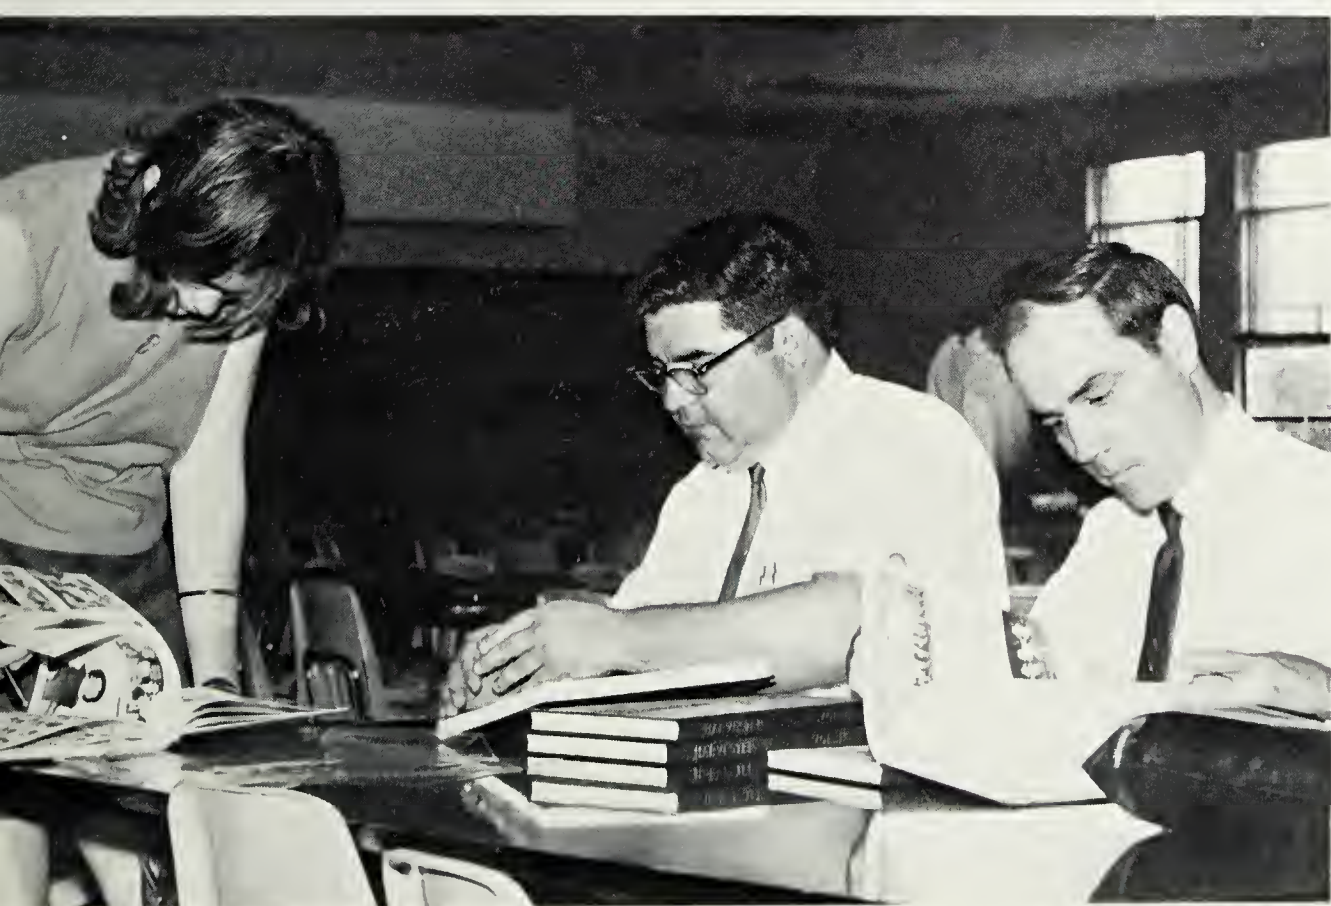

The yearbooks were in such popular demand that students couldn't wait to get their hands on them.

Linda Heckert and Jim Baskin interestedly review last year's fun.

Even teachers were amazed and amused by the quality of the yearbook.

A school day

Shirley Phelps, eating her hot dog, reflects the starving student.

Today seems to be one of those days when nothing is going right.

Serenity is a rarity, but it can be found.

Performances by the Drill Team add to student enthusiasm.

Constantly striving, searching, driving for excellence. As a team theirs is a finite type of search. At the end of a season the search must be called to a halt, not ended.

Each member of the team must continue beyond this halt. As individuals they must push themselves farther, searching for that finality, that completeness . . . success.

At the end-of-the-year banquet, Marc Cochran, Rick Davies, and Conley Jones received awards from the baseball team.

As this was its first varsity year, letters were given to students who met the requirements for them:

72 innings played, or 21 innings for full-time pitchers. Eleven athletes received letters.

Leading the team in offensive categories were Marc Cochran, Scott Deane, and Kim Davies. Alan Breed led the team in pitching and Scott Deane held the best fielding average.

I'm really sorry that I didn't have you in class but it's been a pleasure seeing you at school. I've enjoyed interrupting your first period class. I know you just loved it! I also enjoyed (thoroughly) being able to borrow money from you any time anything popped up (pop!)... I guess that's vice versa - I was pretty handy in the lunch line! # Varsity Wrestling

In its second year of varsity competition, Hayfield High experienced a disappointing 3-8-1 dual meet record, but found solace in individual efforts. John Maxwell, 98 pounder, gave Hayfield its first District championship and went on to win the Regional crown the following week. Joe Sovitsky, 185 pounder, placed second in the District and fourth in the region. Other tournament place winners were Bill Spurr, 105, and Dave Hartman, 138, who placed fourth in the District for the Hawks. Hayfield finished 16th as a team in the Regionals out of 25 teams.

The Girl's Gymnastic Team, under the direction of Miss Jane Copenhaver and Mr. Jim Diebler, has gone into its first year of competition with much enthusiasm. The team is made up of approximately 17 girls. They have competed in meets with several other area high schools and the County Gymnastic meet. Kathy Racherbaumer was Hayfield's first regional champ, as she placed first in tumbling and free exercise. Hayfield is proud of its Gymnastic team and the fine job everyone has done to make it good.

The 1970 Hayfield Cross-Country has made great improvement over last year's team. The team advanced from last place to fourth in the Gunston District. Of the seventeen man team the top five runners were Chris Crawley, Bob Hammersley, Vince Litvinas, Barry Miller, and Scott Wenneson. During the season the team attended invitational meets at William and Mary College and Wakefield High School. Most of the members of this year's team were underclassmen, therefore the 1971 team should be stronger and more successful.

Hayfield Winter Track

The "winter" team is a tremendous advantage for those track and field men who hope to be in competition during the spring season. Those athletes who participate usually will out-perform those that show up only for the spring competition.

The team "winter" was actually a misnomer this past year as all but one meet were run indoors. The team traveled to Woodberry Forest Prep in Orange, Virginia for its lone outdoors encounter. Some of the more outstanding trackmen also went to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland for a large high school indoor meet including many teams from Maryland, D.C., and Virginia.

Jim Copeland, Gunston District Shot Put Champion, distance man Barry Miller, sprinters Rod Cupka and Mike Fitzgerald and Pole Vaulter Ron Gavin represented Hayfield at the State Meet in Lexington, Virginia. Next winter all meets will be dual and triangular meets held in Hayfield's gym, plus the usual big meets at Navy, D.C. Armory, and V.M.I.

Hayfield's first senior class has been working diligently towards getting privileges and starting traditions.

During the school year the seniors gradually furnished the senior lounge with the help of Mr. Pertuzzi, their sponsor.

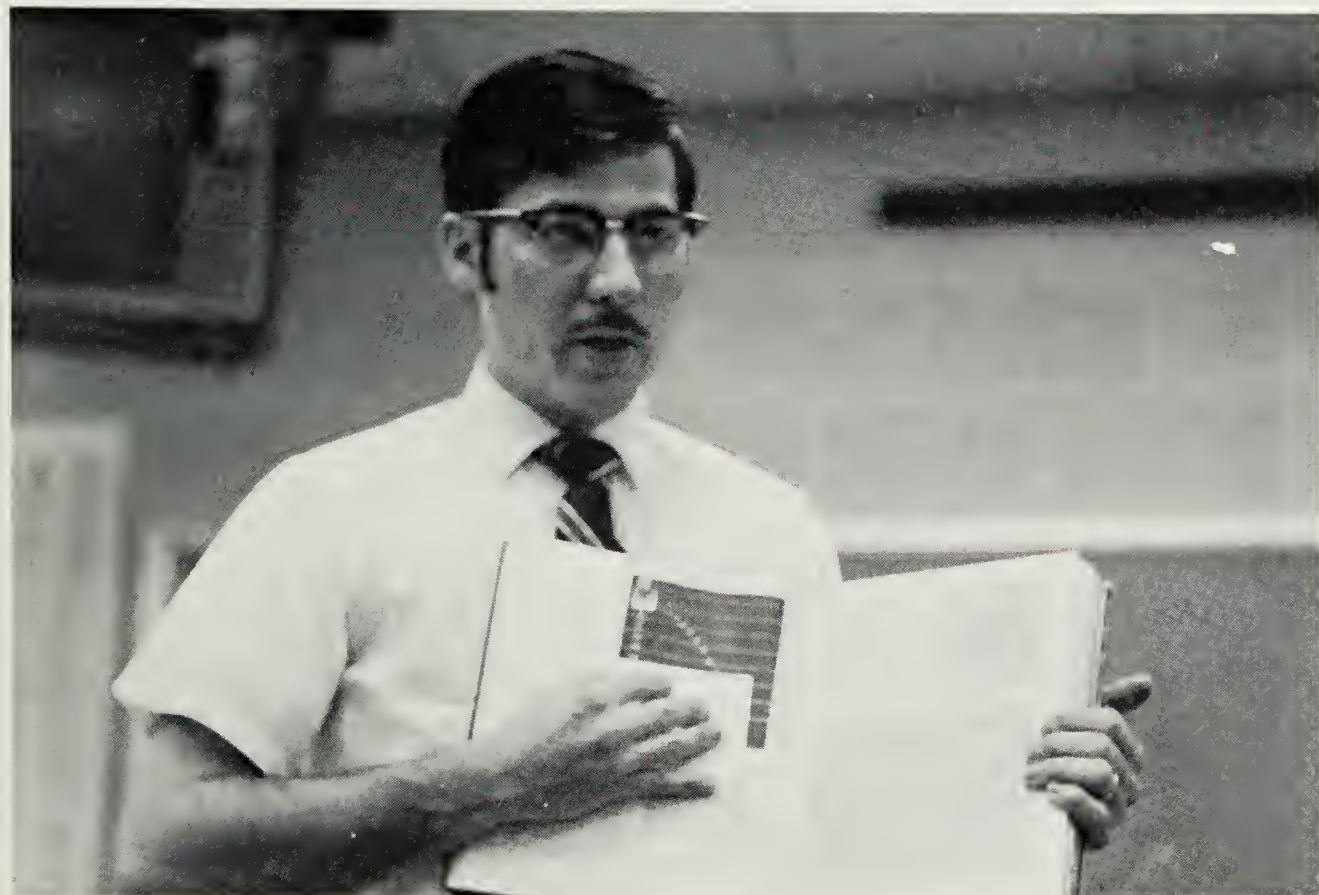

Senior privileges include senior lunch line, parking lot, and the seniors have five minutes longer for lunch.

Future plans include a class trip and a variety show.

Having one of those days Mr. Pertuzzi?

You still don't understand?

The Junior Class started the year with paper flower sales to raise money.

The junior and senior girls challenged each other to a game of Powder Puff football. It was a rough game with the juniors coming out on top with the score 6-0.

Once again the juniors came out on top in the float contest. The theme of the float was "Spirit of '72".

The juniors also sponsored the Junior-Senior prom.

This year the Drill Team has worked especially hard. Under their new sponsor, Miss Julie Young, they performed intriguing routines. During football season, practices were held every day. Attending every football game, the Drill Team cheered the boys on to victory. Football tickets were sold after school and a banner was made for the football team at the last game. The Drill Team with the Band and Majorettes made Hayfield's spirit blossom into one which led our team to victory.

Varsity Cheerleaders Lead Hayfield On To Victory

The Varsity Cheerleaders opened the season of Hayfield's first Varsity year with much Pride and enthusiasm. Their main objectives were to promote spirit throughout the student body and to give moral support to the teams. In addition to leading cheers at pep rallies and games, the cheerleaders sold Pride buttons, stationery, and decorated the halls and stands. They also backed the "Mighty Hawks" at the televising of "It's Academic" in January.

The terminal was just purchased this Year and is part of the Honeywell Time-Sharing System. It is connected by telephone to a main computer in Boston, Massachusetts. The members offer their free time either writing, punching, running, or reading programs in any of three computer language languages: Basic, X-Basic, or Fortran (IV). Mr. Evans and Mr. Cavaiola, co-sponsors of the club, are almost run ragged trying to sign people on the computer and keeping them from storing useless programs.

It's Academic Team

The "It's Academic" team of Hayfield High School was in its first competition this year. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Dieringer, the team met on Thursdays after school to practice for the televised show. Students were nominated for the team by teachers in the spring of last year, and these students traveled to the WRC-TV studios in Washington, D.C., to try out for the team. The students finally chosen were Mike D'Orso, captain; Chris Sieber, and Ed Spencer. Alternates were Jan Beyer, Robert Bell, and John Dashiell. The team and alternates taped the competition against Oakton and Regina in December, and it was aired January 2, 1971 on channel 4. The team lost to Oakton but beat Regina with Scores of 315, 230, and 90. The school received from Giant food stores, the sponsors of the show, a 3-volume set of Encyclopedia of Progress and a $100 check to be used as a scholarship.

The Art League, after undertaking a thorough reorganizational move at the end of the first semester was a completely changed organization. They regrouped into free workshop associations. Under this arrangement no roll was taken but students who were interested in working on projects other than their regular class projects were invited to come and use the facilities of the Art Department. Those who participated in this program benefited not only from added use of equipment but also from the guidance offered by sponsors Miss Joan Bradley and Mrs. Sally Magsig, and that of their peers who had experience in the many different processes that were explored. Through a program of this kind students and teachers alike have developed a deep bond of fellowship that can only be established through working together.

Drum and Sandal, Modern Dance Group

Hayfield's answer to a modern dance or American jazz activity, Drum and Sandal motivates the learning and appreciation of dance. Body movements, control, coordination, creativity, and rhythm are emphasized, and serve as criteria for the annual fall tryouts. Drum and Sandal performs yearly in the Madd Festival, plus an annual revue. This year the dancers also appeared in assemblies for the intermediate and high school students. They performed for the general public at Tyson's Corner during National Education Week.

Officers for the year are: President: Pat Terry, Vice-Pres: Paula Crawford, Secretary: Elaine Darivoff, Treasurer: Jane Middlecoff, Historian: Penny Beene. Sponsors are Miss Whiteman, Mrs. Kowalski, and Mr. Singleton.

Varsity Club Promotes School Pride

The Varsity Club was organized for all of Hayfield's finest athletes — the lettermen. It is a club with the common interest of sports. All boys who lettered are eligible.

The Varsity Club promotes pride in the school functions and adds organization to sports activities.

To raise money and create interest in the club, they raffled a 1971 Pinto at the first home basketball game.

The Hayfield Heritage is a very important medium of communication between faculty, administration, and the student body. All people in Hayfield have the opportunity to reveal their views on all school related topics in the editorial section. The staff tries to give both views and leave the final decision up to the reader.

Light and Sound Technicians

The Hayfield Light And Sound Technicians Group was organized this past year as a service club. There was no constitution and no dues were required. Students who were willing to perform installation and operating services in the field of Electronic light and sound systems used in the auditorium, gym, cafeteria and the stadium were encouraged to join.

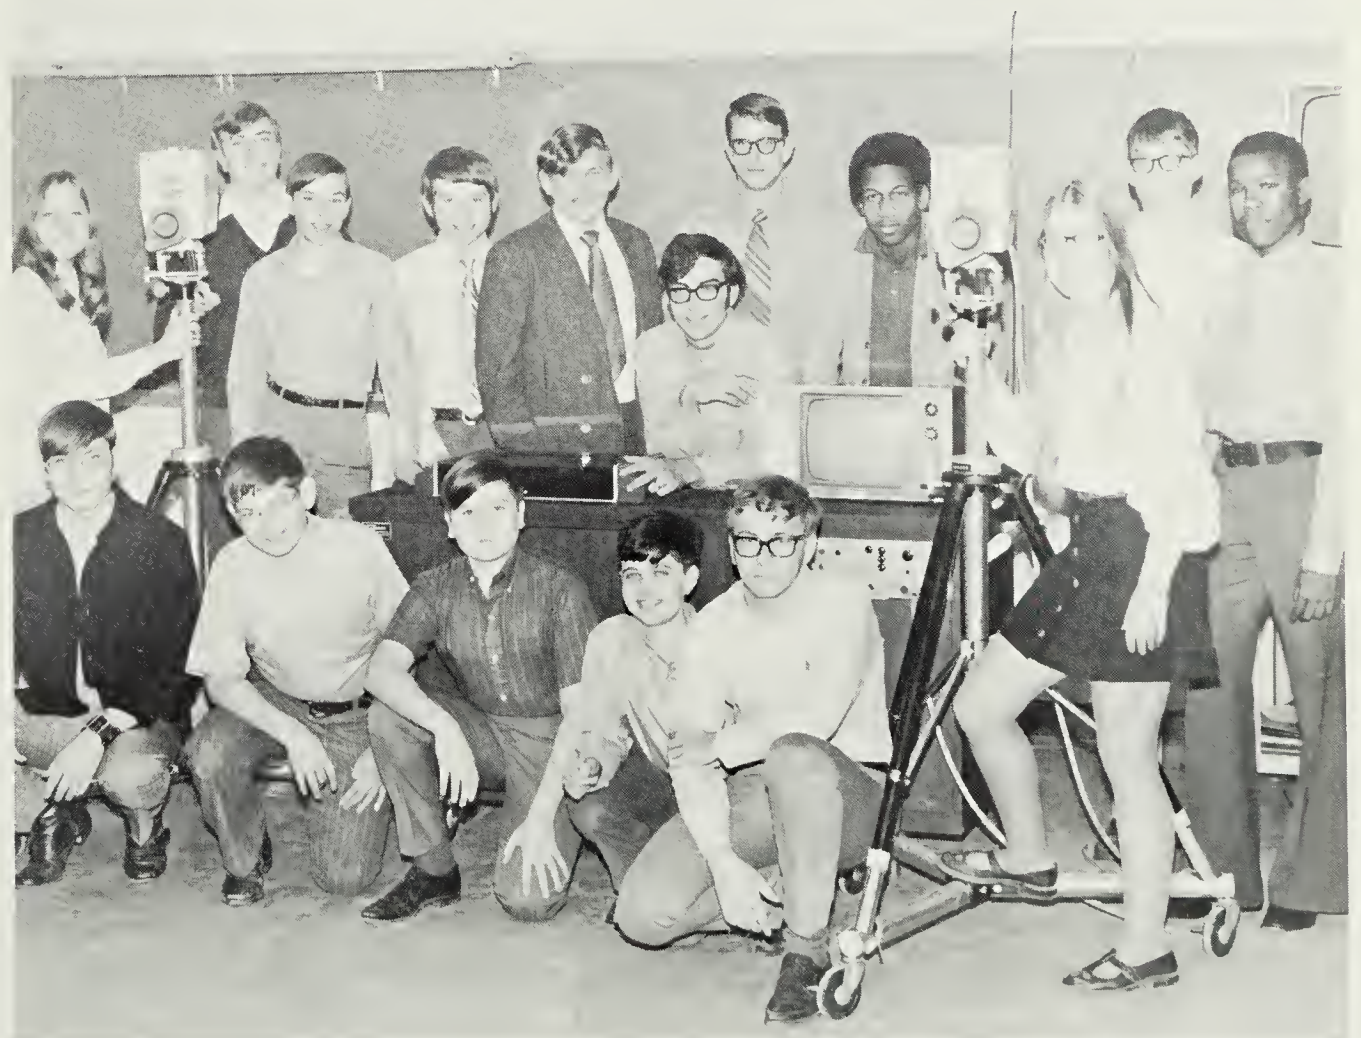

Marketable skills were learned and each member was assigned tasks as requirements were made known by administrators, activity director, clubs, teachers, etc.

These people seldom, if ever, are observed by an audience; they are always the first to arrive for a function and the LAST to leave.

Tri-Hi-Y Gets You Involved

The Tri-Hi-Y is a service club involved in community and school projects.

At Christmas time the Tri-Hi-Y sponsored a food drive for the needy, and sold candy for the Kidney Foundation. In October a Halloween Party was held for mentally disabled children at Fort Belvoir.

Their school centered activities included a fashion show, selling pompons for the Float Game and Secret Pals. All girls in Tri-Hi-Y are assigned one athlete. She is responsible to decorate their lockers, and sometimes surprises, such as cookies and candies are added. To add interest the Secret Pal's name remains anonymous for the duration of their season.

Keyettes, with the motto, "We Serve" served the school and community, under the able direction of Miss Hillian and Mrs. Capps.

Doing much for the community, such as collecting for UNICEF, and March of Dimes, collecting a food basket at Thanksgiving for an underprivileged family, the filling of Christmas stockings at D.C. Children Hospital, and donation of money to the Aid to Pakistan Society did much to add to Hayfield's good reputation.

Interschool projects included serving as locker pals to support Hayfield's Cross Country and Wrestling Teams, and serving Gator Aid to the football Team after practices and home games.

"RAP" and "Second Genesis," drug addiction centers, received the Key Club's help.

In Hayfield, the Key Club sponsored a Valentine's dance, and a shoe shine. They were also slaves for Madison Hall's Slave Day.

Intermediate Spanish Club

"Aqui se habla Espanol" could have been the theme behind the Intermediate Spanish Club meeting — meetings where seventh and eighth graders interested in Spanish came together to speak and to engage in other activities designed to involve them in Spanish culture.

'Who ate the ladder diagram?' . . . cropper? . . . where's page 48? . . . 49, . . . 163, . . . the deadline was last Thursday? . . . Darn it! . . . They're here! . . . Get 'em out ahire, I'm busy! . . . What? Hey come back!

These are oft heard snatches of conversation from under the door of faculty 29, the sinister yearbook room. That door is locked purposely. If anybody knew half of the nonsense going on inside they'd never believe a serious publication could emerge (neither do staff members). But it is fun, when it's over, looking back.

The deadlines were quick, but what's three production days. Three Production days . . . !

Distributive Education Offers On The Job Training

The purpose of Distributive Education is not only to help the young worker succeed in the kind of job for which he is best qualified. It is also to help the employer in obtaining qualified employees who have a basic knowledge of their job functions when they are ready for permanent employment.

D.E. places young people in organizations for a period of training. In providing this training it helps our community directly by insuring a constant, well-instructed supply of Labor.

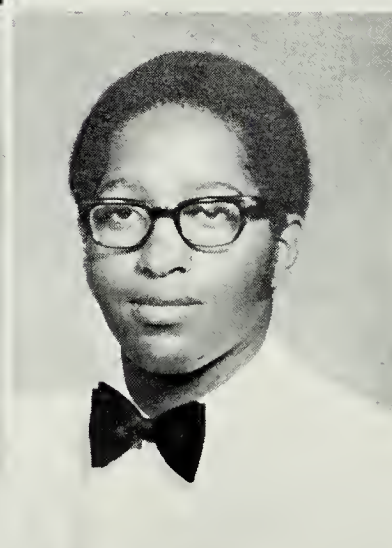

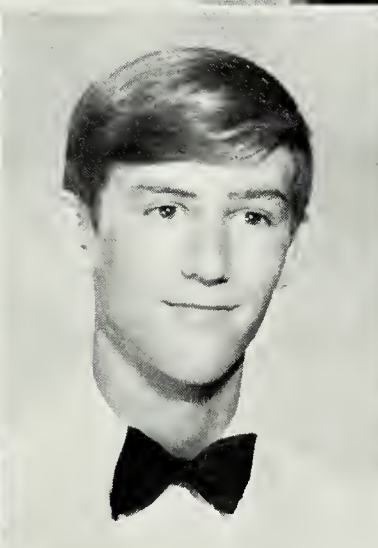

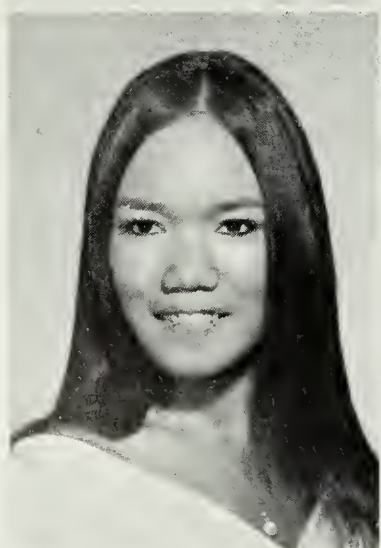

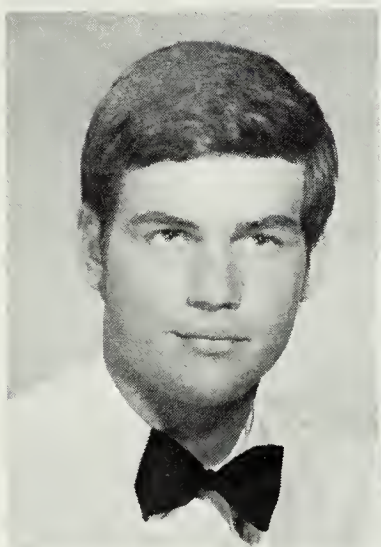

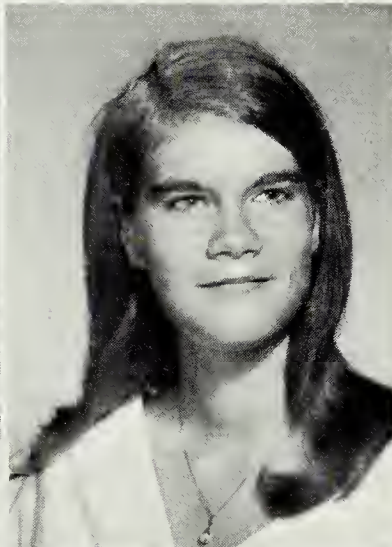

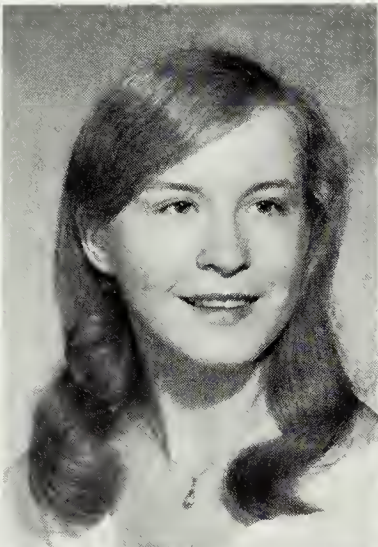

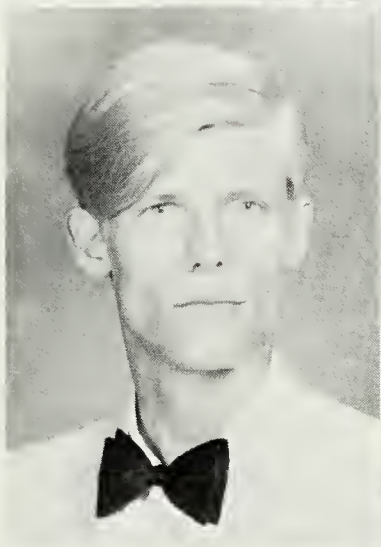

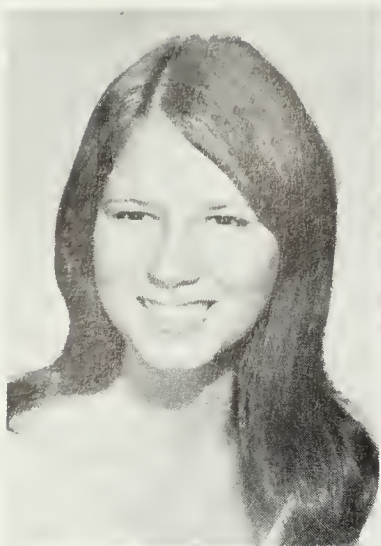

Their search is over! Graduation, the Senior Prom, even final exams signal the end of high school. But does this really mean the end of the search, or is this just the beginning? Certainly the search has started. Everyone is seeking that something that will complete his life. The searching has been long and hard, but much of that searching involves looking for the methods as well as the search itself.

Is the search ever completed? Are the methods ever completely learned? No! Perhaps seniors are best described as having completed a leg of the journey. Not finished searching, but ready to renew the search; changed.

PEOPLE II

Underclassmen: They're searching. Some have just started, some aren't sure exactly what they're looking for but they're still searching. That's what being an underclassman is. That's what being a person is. Never quite satisfied, never standing still. Searching. The search is far from fruitless, far from being unproductive. At every step of the way you learn, each moment is an experience, a valuable experience, but none of these are enough in themselves. It takes them all, a lifetime full, to make up your part of the journey, the ending of the search.

Underclass

First Year Shows Hamilton Hall's

In its first year Hamilton Hall has proved itself many times over as being more than worthy of being considered an equal with the three halls already established. Under the leadership of Penny Brown as its first president, the Hamilton Hall SCA has sponsored many projects designed to provide a sound working basis and precedent for Hamilton Hall to follow in the future. With Mr. John Oliverio as Hamilton's principal, the Hamilton Hall staff has demonstrated a concern for its students that promises a good future for everyone under their care.

Mr. John Oliverio provides guidance as principal.

Mrs. Thelma Gilbert works behind the scenes to keep up with the tons of paperwork needed for each student. As the very efficient secretary for Hamilton Hall, she puts in 25 hours a day typing, filing, telephoning, mailing, composing, et. al.

Great Potentials for Future

Miss Jane Brown and Miss Carolyn Jones are the two counselors for Hamilton Hall students. With their diligent aid, the students of Hamilton Hall are able to resolve any of their problems concerning their curriculum and/or their future. They provide assistance to all Hamilton Hall students in selecting their courses for the coming years, and without their help no senior would get into college!

CARE, CONCERN, AND CONSTANT EFFORT

Mr. McCormick: principal

A new principal and all new officers have made Washington Hall an important and a big contributor to Hayfield High School. Through its many activities the officers have demonstrated their leadership abilities by coordinating and executing many successful activities. Some of these activities were: a free dance, bon fire, caramel apple sale, candy cane sale, bake sales, dances, and may more. One of their major activities was a Washington Hall Spirit Week which included a spirit button sale, chocolate covered cherry sale, overall assembly, a victory flag presented to the student body, and a sock hop after the basketball game. This shows the hard work, drive, and determination demonstrated by our S.C.A.

Fairfax Hall

Debate, heated discussion and finally compromise agreement were typical of the Fairfax Hall S.C.A. meetings held several times a month in Mrs. Angotti's room after school.

S.C.A. members considered everything that affected student life in Fairfax Hall. Items considered ranged from an increased number of dances to complicated questions of curriculum revision.

The S.C.A. worked closely with the sponsor, Mrs. Pam Angotti and Fairfax Hall Principal, Mr. Anthony Rizzo to provide a program which overcame apathy and made every student feel that he was a real part of Fairfax Hall.

Jefferson Hall Displays Leadership

Dr. T. Murray: Principal

Dr. Thomas Murray states that this is his second year as principal of Jefferson Hall and these two years have proved that the students of Junior High have the same spirit, imagination, and "get-up and go" that the most famous Virginian of them all, Thomas Jefferson, had. It has been his distinct pleasure.

Mr. Floyd W. Worley, Principal

With perseverance and determination Mr. Worley aided in nurturing our school to final completion this year, resulting in the thorough utilization of all six sub-schools. Through persistent efforts, he attempted to improve communication between the administration and students. Working closely with the students and faculty to resolve significant problems, he has become noted for his concern for student affairs and his able leadership. Mr. Worley endeavored to seek solutions for many problems this year and obviously several of his attempts could be considered prominent accomplishments.

Department

The Business Department has a dual role at the secondary level of dealing with the vocational and non-vocational needs of students. The vocational educational program prepares students for entry level employment. The non-vocational program, which involves business and economics courses, develops understanding needed in conducting everyday business affairs. This includes the Distributive Education program which prepares students for employment and advancement in the fields of marketing and distribution. It also lays a basic foundation for further studies at the post-secondary or college level in these fields.

To better provide for the needs and abilities of each student the Math Department made an effort to develop an individualized approach to math this year. ## Science

The science department in Hayfield attempted to develop in each student functional knowledge of concepts, facts, and principles in various fields of science. Any of the science courses satisfies laboratory graduation requirements and all high school science courses are elective. At the intermediate level, the department initiated the new program Science 7, which is a one-semester course concerning the systems of the human body. At the high school level, a new course, Time-Space-Matter, was added as an alternate to ninth grade E.S.C.P. These innovations are leading up to a wider variation of course offerings and more specialized study in science.

Major changes were introduced in the Social Studies Department this year. One basic curriculum variation was the creation of a four and a half week elective Government program which provided numerous choices to satisfy individual needs and interests. Elective courses such as Economics and Sociology were also made available for interested students. It is hoped that more innovations will be initiated in the future to further aid students in identifying and solving major problems of society and clarifying their own individual system of values.

The cafeteria staff has made some serviceable innovations in the normal lunch routine. The insertion of the A La Carte and Hamburger Only lines aroused great approval from students. The continuation of regular school lunches plus the new specified lunch lines have furnished an efficient variety of foods to cater to students and have proven to be a great success.

Nurses And Maintenance Staff

Mrs. Spahr, Intermediate Nurse

Mrs. Parrish, High School Nurse

The student body and the faculty are greatly indebted to the nurses and maintenance staff for the vital services they rendered. The nurses attempted to keep the student body in healthy physical condition, while the appearance of our school was kept neat and orderly by the conscientious maintenance staff. With the aid of these maintenance and clinical services the school has successfully completed another year.

To Mr. Bekius
who is the easiest teacher in the school and cheats when giving grades for the year

Jerry Lipscomb
(The GREAT)

For a real Nice teacher even though I met the best ever had dm on the well good luck in the future
I have you short year the average D. K. I you'll meet it
in the future
Jerry Collins

This has been my search. Searching for a theme, a picture, my sanity . . . myself. This yearbook, the story of one year is more or less a complete thing, with a definable beginning and end. Yet it is a chapter, a portion of something of much greater consequence. It is a segment of my life, just as it chronicles a segment of the lives of three thousand other people. Every person's life is made of similar units of greater or lesser magnitude. The complexity of life is that one problem is not resolved before the next adventure begins. Some run parallel, most overlap, a few run disjointedly; cropping up during odd moments. But hopefully some harmony can be brought to this confusion. This resolution is the focus of the exploration: the search.

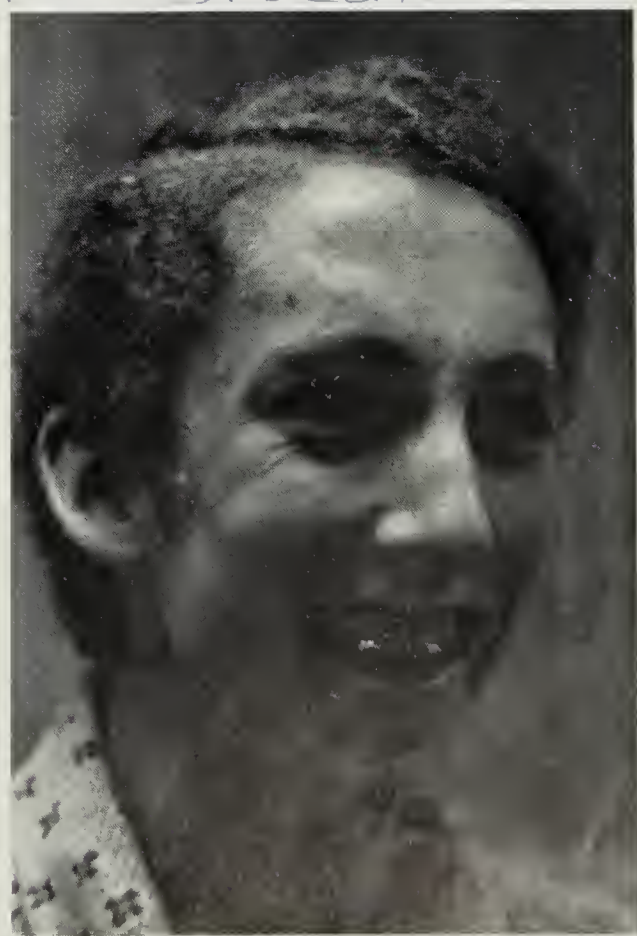

To a really really smart math teacher.
 I tried to learn and you tried to teach and I barely succeeded, but I did make it and I hope you are my math teacher for many more years. Have a nice summer and keep in good shape.

. . . That Search, The Essence Of Life . . .

To Mr. Becky Baby from the boys. You old goat
 I hope I don't get you next year because you'll be a better teacher (supposedly)

The last page. This one is the most fun because it means the end, and also the saddest for the same reason. This last page means saying good-bye, for awhile at least, to something that has become very much a part of me. But it's a part of a lot of other people, too: Mrs. Virginia Thomason, Faculty Advisor, co-conspirator, friend, adversary, confidante. It's as much hers as mine.

And our families: Chunk! If my kid(?) ever tells me he's going to be editor of his yearbook, I'm gonna hit him in the face.

Mr. Neil Watson, American Yearbook Company representative: He's glad it's over now, too, and without him it wouldn't be.

Mr. Craig Henry, senior portraits, candid, sports pictures, faculty portraits, etc.: All I can say is thanks (and here's the money).

Thanks also to Howard and Ruth Marler and Miss Joan Bradley and her crew: Mike Brisendine, Bonnie De-Angeles, Mindy Killen, Gary Thomas.

Undeveloped pictures are about as much good as unexposed film, none!

And Mrs. Phyllis Yates and you intermediate guys: we won't do it again like that. Thanks!

Thanks, it's a word some great literary critic might say I used too much. You know where he can put what he thinks, don't you!

Wow! It's been wild!
